IMPACTING THOSE WHO NEED US MOST

Today, Adams County faces challenges that create a greater need than ever before for the work we do every day.

Our Community is Facing..

- An increase in health & academic disparity among children and teens of different backgrounds.
- An increase in negative youth behaviors due to the erosion in their social-emotional development.
- Community support systems not keeping pace with changing demographics and family structures.

Adults & Seniors in our community are facing..

- High rates of chronic disease related illness and obesity due to a lack of physical activity and poor nutritional habits.
- Increased health needs associated with an aging population.
- Increased health inequities among people of different backgrounds.
- Increasing social isolation and disconnection from communities.

OUR RESPONSE

In response to the needs of our community, the South Wood County YMCA is undergoing a capital campaign to expand its mission and services to the greater Adams County region through the development of a new Healthy Living Center.

This new estimated 7,500 SF, $1.5 million Healthy Living Center is aimed at improving the health & well-being of children, adults and seniors through a comprehensive and integrated approach to health.

It will serve as a platform to provide life changing programs through youth development, health living and social responsibility.

The end outcome will improve the overall health and quality of life for residents of Adams County.
